opening...

As the Vine staff discussed possible themes for the yearbook, many ideas came to mind. We focused on words that naturally relate to Taylor. Words such as community, integrity, change, and challenge were mentioned. We continued to brainstorm until we found a theme that encompassed each person's experience at Taylor.

We come from many different communities. We have many different expectations and many different goals. We have different fears, different tastes, different reactions, and different interests. But we all have ONE common denominator: we are sons and daughters of Christ. We have a Father who loves, touches, speaks to, comforts, and teaches each of us in different ways. ONE God who divinely placed each of us at Taylor University Fort Wayne for His purpose.

With God as our common factor, all of our differences are placed aside. Our combined strengths overshadow individual weaknesses. We mourn, rejoice, and work as ONE. We are ONE Body, ONE Faith.

-Jessica Hochstetler

"...So in Christ we who are many form one body, and each member belongs to all the others."
-Romans 12:5

How much did you pay for books???

Business and Accounting majors are notorious for their expensive books. So, how much do they really spend...

- I had a book that cost $120. - Jose Sanchez
- The most I've ever spent on books is $330. - Chad Orlikowski
- The most I've spent on books in one semester is $420. - Anthony Greer
- I spent $550 in one semester. - Chad Heathco

Below: Professor Keith Ryan teaches a distance learning class combining the Upland and Fort Wayne Accounting classes. The Accounting program at Taylor is a new program so the classes only average approximately four people.

TUFW Ministry majors have been involved in various opportunities to use their gifts.

Here are two of them:

Junior Intercultural Studies major-Urban focused, Josh Lee said "Since coming to TUFW, I have enjoyed the urban ministry opportunities that God has provided me with in order to help prepare me for my future." Lee has helped at the Stillwater summer boys camp, Brookmill housing project kids club, LOVE church, and other ministries.

Junior Pastoral Ministry major Matt Jones worked as a youth sponsor at First Missionary Church. He said "I have led small groups and been a youth sponsor for the high school kids for over two years. Having opportunities to teach in these settings and trying to relate my faith to them has helped me to grow in my faith and shown me how God can use me in many ways."

purpose of majors

COMPUTER SCIENCE:

To assist in the education of men and women so that upon graduation they are committed Christians, eager to serve Christ, conversant with all areas of knowledge included within the liberal arts, well-trained and experienced in computer science and systems analysis, and highly motivated to contribute to society.

MUSIC:

To prepare all students to value music as an important part of culture and the development of the whole person, as an essential part of their expression of faith and Christian worldview, and as a creative means to express their ideas, thoughts, and feelings. It is also the purpose of this department to prepare majors with knowledge, skills, and values in music and musicianship for entrance to graduate studies and for careers in music and music-related fields.

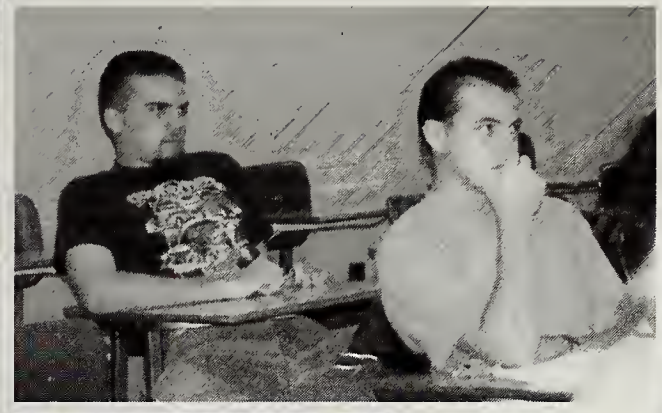
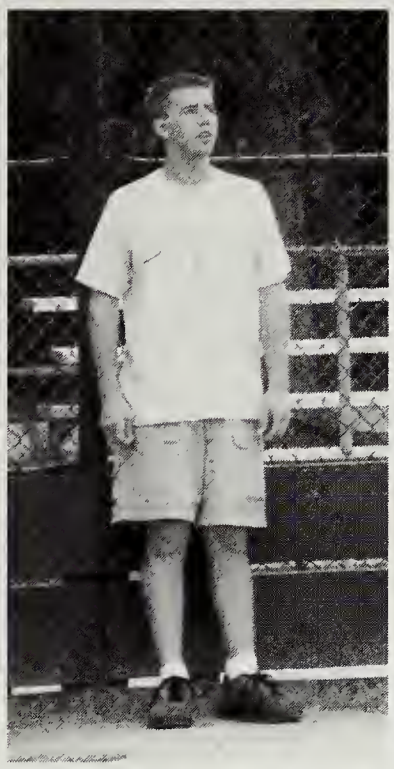
As May 26 approached, Seniors began to march to a different tune... Pomp and Circumstance.



Four years of class is a long time to daydream. Seniors are full of advice for those of you who are struggling to endure.



If you start to look like <---this, don't be ashamed to...

do anything for extra cash,

we mean anything,

get a hug from your advisor,

head for a lounge (group therapy is almost always in session), or take refuge in your closet.

If you take our advice we're sure that you'll find, your reward at the end and a smile you can't hide.

Pastor Joel DeSelm has many interesting stories that help students understand why it is so important to control the tongue.

One of the best parts of Spiritual Renewal Week is having the speaker available at lunch and after the service for further discussion.

Freshman Laureen Mutzer gets information about Arab World Ministries, one of the many organizations represented during World Opportunities Week.

The drama team is an exciting, humorous, and thought provoking addition to our chapels. They have made chapel more interesting and have helped us to visualize many of the lessons that we have learned.

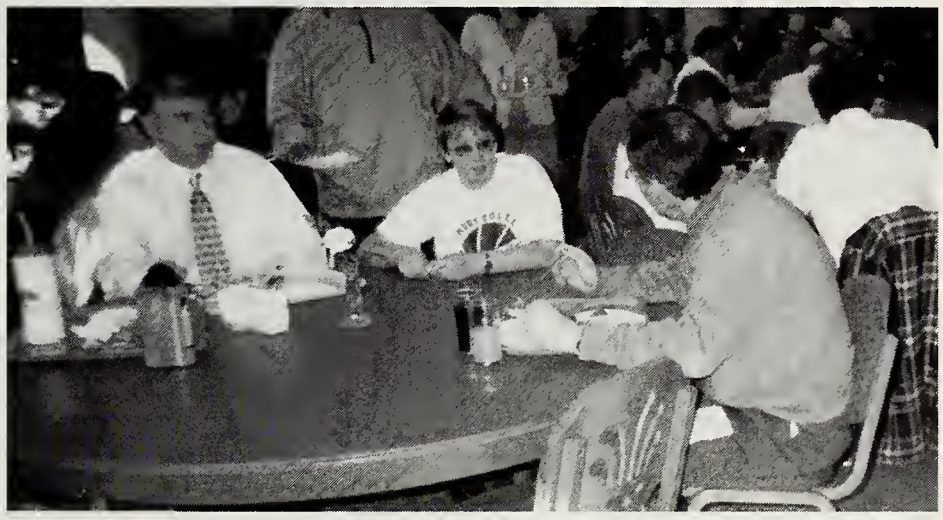
The many wonderful voices of our worship team often bring us into an attitude of worship and prayer that can revive us spiritually just as much as the message.



One memorable Chapel speaker was Jilly Bean. She proved, once again, that you're never too old for a puppet show.

j-term mission trips

The Gautemala team posed after a skit at an orphanage. Despite the language barrier they were still able to share God's love through mime.

Sleeping conditions weren't always luxurious but the Haiti crew made the best of it. After a long day of work they were willing to sleep anywhere.

Some members of the Jamaica team cozied up with resident children in the Mc. Alpine Mountians. They used this opportunity to show God's love through affection.

here's the story . . .

Here are the hard-working individuals who aided in the production of this edition of The Vine. While we slaved away in the Mac Lab and the basement of Witmer, two of the lamest hangout spots on campus, you were having fun making all of the memories we captured! Hope you had fun!

. . . about The Vine staff !

... and plays hard, too!

closing...

We close this year (and book) amidst a mass of resignations and dead grass. We are continually assured that this "is not a sinking ship." This being Taylor University Fort Wayne, where the student body, along with this editor, wonders: If the ship is sailing fine, why is everyone so quick to reassure us that it is not sinking? So, in the face of all the endings, good-byes, and death I'm closing this book with a list of firsts, new beginnings, and signs of life that marked the 2000-2001 academic year.

* A new yearbook staff and layout designed to highlight the personal expression of each staff member.
*A presidential election marked by a concession, a recount, an ugly court battle, and finally another concession.
*J Squared and T Squared
* "Fire" in Bethany Hall
*Eicher Student Commons
*A winning volleyball season
*Wild Flowers
*The yearbook staff meeting deadlines (first time in the history of The Vine).
*A "witty" newspaper staff
*Dr. G
*A summer Olympics that broadcast more "drama" than sports.
*Tina was named the Ultimate-Outback Survivor.
*Erin Green. . . the Green's live on.
*Drive-by-paintball shooting at Bethany Hall
*Student RD's
*Grass seed

The new beginnings and signs of life will continue at TUFW. With confidence I can say that even if this ship does sink, there are plenty of life boats for everyone and a new ship is on the way. Don't lose heart, be encouraged!

Farewell,
Myllisa Jensen
